Curriculum

Providence School is a college preparatory academy. Our curriculum is advanced, taught at a higher level, and particularly rich and rigorous in its content. It is our belief that we do not teach our classes in a standard manner and that every academic class taken at Providence School is honors level work. Therefore, Providence uses the following designations to indicate course work level: Honors (H), Advanced Honors (AH), and Advanced Placement (AP). Any class not having one of the previous designations is not considered to be an honors level or weighted course.
